

MARK BRNOVICH

Arizona Attorney General

The Office of the Arizona Attorney General is committed to combatting human trafficking. Human trafficking is a global issue and it is important to recognize that it does not only occur in faraway countries, but it is also a widespread problem within the United States.

In this FREE presentation we define the two types of human trafficking as well as providing information students information about how traffickers find their victims and steps they can take to protect themselves. We also provide Arizona statistics and resources that students can contact in the event that they are approached by a possible trafficker.
